

A Christian Single Woman's Perspective

Let's Chat About It!

WELCOME to my website designed as a forum for progressive, intellectual, passionate persons of all races, nationalities and socioeconomic status. I am so glad you are here and I look forward to our getting to know each other as we chat about Christian dating relationships and other topics. I will occasionally post a topic on my Let's Chat About It podcast series, and will also be writing a Blog periodically on an issue currently on my mind. I welcome your comments and I look forward to meeting you in person at one of my live Lets Chat About It sessions. See details below on the next session.

So, sisters, let's get ready to rumble! And for the brothers who will be chiming in, and you are most welcomed and encouraged to do so, we want and need to hear your comments as well. Everyone, please feel free to post your thoughts in the comments section of the site and Let's Chat About It!
